CITY NOTES

Greenbelt CARES

Week Ending September 9

Judye Hering welcomed new student intern Nate Honeycutt to the vocational/educational program. Nate is a graduating senior from the University of Maryland's Family Science program and will complete his internship in December.

During the month of August, 12 families on average were seen for counseling at CARES. Fifty-seven individuals on average came on a weekly basis among whom sixteen were 18 years of age and younger. The CICs (Crisis Intervention Counselors) saw four clients.

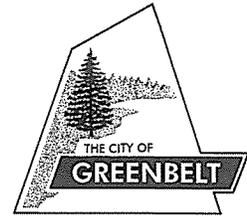

The GAIL program started the first of two Community Nursing rotations for the fall school semester. This partnership is with senior Bachelors of Science and Nursing students attending Washington Adventist School of Nursing. These students will provide weekly home visits to residents in Green Ridge House as well as the community.

Tom Patota, LCSW-C, LICSW covered the booth at the Labor Day Festival at which information about Opioid Overdose, drugs and treatment options materials were made available, including many from the adjacent Greenbelt Police Department booth.

Aida Martinez is the GAIL Public Health Intern for the fall semester. She is a senior expecting to graduate in December with her Bachelor's Degree in Community Health from the University of Maryland. She hopes to build her career in the health and humanitarian field at a global level because she loves traveling and helping those who are underprivileged. She believes nobody should be restricted from fundamental human needs and rights. She is looking forward to learning new things and growing as a professional by working with the City of Greenbelt and GAIL.
